Skin Benefits

Macadamia Wax carries a light and nutty aroma, reflecting its natural origin. It has emollient and protective properties, providing moisture and protection to the skin and hair. The wax is commonly used in lip balms, creams, and hair care products to deliver hydration and create a protective barrier, leaving the skin and hair feeling soft and supple.

Hair Benefits

Macadamia Wax can contribute to a nourishing and protective hair care routine. Its emollient properties can help moisturise and protect the hair strands, reducing dryness and promoting overall hair health. Incorporating Macadamia Wax into hair care products such as styling balms, pomades, and leave-in treatments can provide moisture and create a protective barrier, leaving the hair feeling soft and manageable.

Functionality

Emollient

Softens and smooths the skin, creating a protective barrier that locks in moisture. It is particularly beneficial for dry, rough, and chapped skin, providing deep hydration and improving the skin's texture.
